

Addolorata Villa Offers Lifelong Learning Institute Program – Secret Places and Unknown Spaces

The Addolorata Villa in Wheeling, part of the Franciscan Communities, will be hosting the LifeLong Learning Institute program “Secret Places and Unknown Spaces,” presented in partnership with Harper College, on Tuesday, November 13, from 10:00am-11:30am. This is one of many enriching and entertaining educational opportunities available to Addolorata Villa residents and all local adults ages 55 and older.

In a two-part series, with a Spring 2018 premiere at Harper, author historian, Jerome M. O’Conner will present two chapters of his new book which will be released on the eve of the 75th anniversary marking the end of World War II. The book is currently being considered as a film documentary and will reveal existing places that contributed to the victory. Those unchanged locales include where General Eisenhower ordered the D-Day invasion of Europe, and the same air bases in England where the mighty Eighth Air Force flew against Nazi Germany.

With no required educational background, homework, or grades, the Lifelong Learning Institute provides great discussions, new friendships, and the joy of learning among peers. To secure your spot in this free program, RSVP with Liz Starman at (847) 808-4421. Seating is limited.
